It was widely accepted that young people had their own culture (music, fashion and hobbies) and ways of behaving, which made them different to adults and children. • Families were expected to have a 'nuclear' structure- a mother, a father and their children. Single-parent families like Mrs Johnstone were less common and were frowned upon by many. • There was a large gap between working and middle class in Britain, even before the industrial decline. The Johnstones and Lyonses are class stereotypes. There was also a class divide in education, whether you went to a public and private schools often decided your job in the future. 	Key Themes <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Money • Class • Fate • Superstition • Friendship • Coming of age • Identity • Gender 	Features and Terms <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Foreshadowing • Pathos • Structure • Form • Imagery • Motifs • Phonetical • Standard English • Tension • Humour • Irony • Juxtaposition • Stage Directions • Cyclical structure 	Songs Overture Marilyn Monroe My Child Easy Terms Shoes Upon The Table Kids' Game Gypsies in the Wood My Friend Bright New Day Marilyn Monroe 2 That Guy Summer Sequence I'm Not Saying A Word Take A Letter Miss Jones Marilyn Monroe 3 Light Romance Madman Tell Me It's Not True
